During the session, students learned about what approach needs to be followed after this pandemic situation to grab opportunities. We need to follow progressive approach. Opportunities are not limited, it depends on perceptions. To take opportunity we need to have acceptability. After acceptability, we should be courageous enough to take responsibility. We should know our capabilities. Applicability of our capabilities is important for us to know. There will be a turnaround in recruitment methodology, job location, job role retention after this pandemic. We need to be flexible enough for this. We should know how to present ourselves as a product.
